We ♥ New York

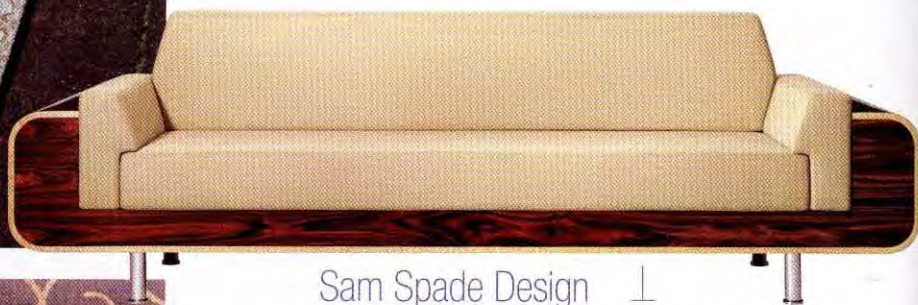

Brintons

You already know the unabashed wallpaper of Timorous Beasties. Now, the Scottish studio has fashioned nine of its trademark patterns in wool-nylon, as Axminster carpets. In this design from the Vintage Damask collection, layers of pattern float atop one another to create umbered striations available in custom colorways. 1000 Cobb Place Boulevard, Building 200, Suite 200, Bailey Park, Kennesaw, GA 30144; 678-594-9300; brintonusa.com. circle 325

Tibetano

Interlocking circles dance their way across Loopy. Constructed of wool with silk accents, at 100 knots per inch, this upbeat rug can be ordered in five colorways as well as custom colors. 1 Grand Avenue, Englewood, NJ 07631; 800-995-5784; tibetano.com. circle 326

Sam Spade Design

Reminiscent of vintage woody wagons, the Rosewood sofa comforts with familiarity. The bent-plywood frame, veneered in rosewood of course, supports minimal cushions upholstered in wool crepe. The legs are tubular stainless steel. 23252 Del Lago Drive, Suite B, Laguna Hills, CA 92653; 949-707-4288; spadedesign.com. circle 327

Stark Carpet Corp.

Glamour-puss Geoffrey Bradfield's low-key yet opulent textiles for Stark Fabrics were inspired by Gilbert Poillerat. Consider scrolled Ayesha, a viscose-cotton blend; gridded Najwa in rayon and nylon; floral silk White Hall; and geometric Andrea Palladio, another viscose-cotton blend. 979 Third Avenue, New York, NY 10022; 212-752-9000; starkcarpet.com. circle 328

Oscar Maschera

Taking the quotidian desk accessory to a new level, Oscar Maschera and Claude Bouchard are styling leather within an inch of its hide. A highlight of their 27-piece collection is the hand-stitched Slash basket, produced in nine colors. Arte et Maison, 31 North Moore Street, New York, NY 10013; 212-226-3665; artetmaison.com. circle 329 →
