7 Tony McNamara's holiday job at wall-covering specialist Architectural Textiles may be the longest in history; he's still there 23 years later. Only now he owns the company. And he recently introduced Phillip Jeffries's 'Juicy Jute' (from £19.85 per m). It's made from seasonally harvested jute and comes in 29 colours, many of which are unexpectedly bright. Shown from top are '4816', '4803', '4823' and '4819'. Ring 01638 751970, or visit architecturaltextiles.co.uk.

8 After stints at companies including Christian Dior, Karen Ledolley-Smith branched out and set up on her own to make tiles inspired by the Normandy countryside that surrounds her. Shown from left: 'Brown Bark' (12 x 9cm; £10 approx each) and 'Cornus' (20 x 20cm; £22 approx). Ring 00 33 2 31 21 85 99, or visit kls-design.fr.

9 The water-lily shape of Paule Guérin's wire 'Chaise Nénuphar' is clear; less obvious is its role in helping the artisans of Honduras, who are paid well above the minimum wage to produce it. What's more, 10 per cent of the profits from sales of the chair are donated to the Ambos Foundation, which funds education for children and care for the elderly in the Central American country. That's £130 well spent. Ring 00 33 1 58 30 55 42, or visit altermundi.com.

10 'A few precise cuts... a few pleats, held together by hand-stitching, and the object takes shape,' says Oscar Maschera of his company's leather goods. Shown from left: a medium and a large 'Giulia' box (£586 approx and £674 approx respectively), and a 'Philippe' one (£474 approx), all by Claude Bouchard; and 'Perfect Day' mirrors by Nestor Perkal, from £339 approx for a set of three.
